3 Cars Involved In Menlo Accident

Three cars were involved in an accident on El Camino Real in Menlo Park Saturday afternoon, although no one was seriously injured.

Charles Julian, 75, of 305 Emerson St., Palo Alto, was making a U-turn on the highway near Cambridge St. when his car was struck in the rear by the automobile of Jay D. McCrea, 32, of San Jose. Julian's car was sent crashing into the parked car of Philip Oswald of Santa Cruz.

Julian was knocked out by the impact but regained consciousness immediately and was not taken to a hospital for treatment. None of the drivers was held by police.

There are far more extinct than living species of animals and birds.

Man With Shiner Sought by Sheriff

Sheriff's deputies Tuesday were seeking a man with a black eye and a scratched face for his part in a disturbance at the Green Frog Cafe, 1607 Woodside Rd., at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

When Al Magnabello, bartender, refused to serve the man a drink because the bartender thought he had had enough, the man threw a bottle breaking a window, venetian blinds and an electric beer sign. He threw a mixer on the floor and broke hi-ball glasses on the bar.

He then went outside and got into a fight with Sidney Whitman, a taxicab driver, and the bartender. The man left hurriedly in a car with a shiner on his eye, Magnabello reported to the sheriff's office.

City Council Votes To Issue First Bonds In Postwar Building

Redwood City city councilmen plowed through a long list of ordinances and resolutions Monday night in the city hall in efforts to retreat the city from war to peace-time living. Topping the list of reconversion activities was a report from City Clerk Ralph S. Dodge concerning issuance of bonds valued at $200,000.

A part of the $998,000 issue voted in November, 1944, the bonds will be advertised for sale during the first part of March, by the firm of Orrick, Dahlquist, Neff, Brown and Harrington, San Francisco, Dodge said.

Bids, council decided, will be opened on Mar. 20 at 11 a.m., in the office of City Mgr. E. W. Blom. After computation, the bidder offering the largest premium and asking the lowest interest rate will be sold the bonds, Dodge reported.

Funds obtained in this manner will be placed in a bond issue fund, Blom said, and allocated to the various projects covered by the $998,000 issue. Other parts of the $998,000 issue will be sold as the need arises for such funds, Blom said.

Other reconversion activities included adoption of an ordinance prohibiting chickens in the first residential district, adoption of an ordinance repealing another ordinance which set the length of time a person could be employed on a temporary basis by the city, a resolution reinstating a pre-war personnel qualification system for fire and policemen, a discussion of policy concerning the answering by the fire department of calls outside city limits, and a decision to allow a city employed returning serviceman to live in a city-owned house.

The chicken law was passed over objections by Paul Jones, 176 Hillview Ave., and A. S. Kimberly, 437 King St. Jones said that he had invested more than $2000 in chicken-raising equipment on the assumption that he could continue to raise fowl. Kimberly inquired concerning the status of citizens who have been raising chickens for more than 10 years.

A previous chicken ordinance had been relaxed during war years to permit householders to raise chickens within 25 feet of dwellings. The approved new ordinance allows no chickens in first residential districts and stipulates that no chickens be raised within 40 feet of a dwelling in the second residential district. All councilmen except Evans A. Fletcher and Carl (Ike) Britschger approved the ordinance which will take effect Apr. 30.

During war years Ordinance 482 was passed which allowed the city to hire personnel for as much as six months on a temporary basis. By repealing that ordinance, council ruled the city may hire for only 90 days on a temporary basis.

By passing a resolution, the council reinstated original prewar personnel requirement provisions for policemen and firemen. During war years, men in these departments could be hired if they were between the ages of 21 and 35. Now to be hired they must be between the ages of 21 and 32.

The council approved existing fire department arrangements whereby Redwood City firemen answer calls outside city limits on request of outside chiefs of police. This system is in operation all along the Peninsula and allows fire departments to "cover in" on each other in case of more than one call in any one community. The council also approved the department's policy of answering calls from the Pacific Portland Cement Co., the Plant Rubber Asbestos Co. and the Johns Manville Co., all of which are partly outside city limits.

Council ruled that during the present housing shortage a city employee returning from military service should be allowed to reside temporarily in a converted well house owned by the city on Bayshore Hwy.

R.C. Motorist Held On Hit-Run Charge

Stephen E. O'Leary, post office Box 1032, Rt. 1, Redwood City, was taken in charge by highway patrolmen Sunday, after he had been brought to the Palo Alto Police Dept. by Isaac J. Hoover, Mountain View, who accused him of hit-run driving.

Hundreds See Scott Take Oath as Judge

Amid a courtroom packed with several hundred well-wishers and desks decked with floral sprays, Edmund Scott, 44-year-old Redwood City attorney was sworn in Tuesday morning as judge of San Mateo County Superior Court Dept. 2, with the promise that "I will do my best to give justice to all people who might come before me."

County officials, county employees, attorneys, business men, housewives and former schoolmates were among those who occupied every available seat and lined the walls in Superior Judge A. R. Cotton's Dept. 1 courtroom, where the brief but impressive ceremony was held.

Judge Scott was sworn in by County Clerk William H. Augustus after words of congratulations and welcome to the bench were spoken by Judge Cotton, Judge Andrew R. Schottky of Mariposa, who has sat on the bench here on numerous occasions in the past few years, and Joseph R. Fitzpatrick, president of the San Mateo County Bar Assn.

Judge Scott's first order of business was to appoint W. H. Girvin secretary and official reporter of the court. Girvin served in the same capacity under the late Judge Maxwell McNutt, whom Judge Scott succeeds.

"I realize that what makes this position important is the responsibility placed upon the shoulders of the person who fills the office, and of the authority given to the office," Judge Scott said.

"I know that such things as the natural dignity of man, the protection of his property rights and of his liberty, are things that cannot be lightly dealt with, but must be protected by the purest justice, the most perfect justice that imperfect beings can administer."

"So again acknowledging to you my appreciation for everything you have done I can only say and promise to you, and to all the people of this county that, with the help of God, I will do my best to give justice to all people who might come before me."

Judge Cotton, who introduced each of the speakers, said that Scott "served the public with distinction for many years as district attorney; he has been a leading member of the bar for many more years, and I am sure he will be fully qualified, and capable, and competent judge. I wish him success."

Among those in the courtroom were Mrs. Maxwell McNutt, widow of the late jurist, and Mrs. Vera Liguori, sister of Judge Scott with whom the new judge lives. Mrs. McNutt was in tears during the ceremony. Mrs. Liguori rushed to the front of the courtroom as soon as Judge Scott adjourned the 10-minute ceremony and kissed her bachelor brother.

Judge Scott, a graduate of the University of San Francisco Law School, was appointed to the $10,500 a year post by Gov. Earl Warren and his qualifications were approved by the board of directors of the State Bar Assn. He served as deputy district attorney from Oct. 1, 1924, to Sept. 1, 1931, when he was named by the board of su-

PFC Rodgers Rejoins 'Rainbow' Division

PFC Albert P. Rodgers has returned to duty with the 242nd Infantry Division of the 42nd "Rainbow" Division in Austria after spending a week at the school for information and education discussion leaders at Versailles, France, the army reported today.

The infantryman went overseas in November, 1944, and fought in France. Rodgers is a graduate of Sequoia High School and attended San Mateo Junior College. He was employed by West Bay Motors before entering the army in March, 1943.

pervisors to succeed the late Franklin Swart, who became superior court judge. He retired to private law practice in 1935.

Gardeners Install 1946 Officers

John Dusel, Sequoia High School teacher, was installed as president of the Woodside Gardeners Assn. by County Agricultural Comr. Max J. Leonard Monday night at the Aviation Cafe in Redwood City. Mac Roldan was installed as first vice president; Leonard Bugna, second vice president; Bruce B. Martin, recording secretary; Anton Mayer, financial secretary, and Antonio Silveira, treasurer.

The 15-year-old association was forced to cease regular meetings during the war period but will meet now on the first Monday of every month to stimulate advancement of horticulture, improvement of garden service and encouragement of community spirit of friendliness and helpfulness.

Early Construction Needed To Replace Central School

Construction of the proposed two new schools to replace the Central School must start within a few months to comply with the agreement between the school board and purchasers of the Central School building and site, Supt. Andrew Spinas said Monday.

Funds for the new school at Stambaugh and Charter Sts. and the other at Alden and Warren Sts. are provided for in the $600,000 elementary school bond issue which will be voted upon a week from tomorrow at the six elementary schools in the district.

Decision to sell the Central School and build two new, smaller schools was reached by the board of trustees after agreement that the location of the 45-year-old building was not advantageous in a downtown spot surrounded by heavy traffic and that the building itself was old and unsightly.

The Stambaugh and Charter St. school would contain nine rooms at first with fees, grounds and equipment bringing the cost to $151,000. The other school at Alden and Warren Sts. would be a five-room building with auxiliary rooms. Grounds, fees and equipment at $15,000 would make the school's total cost $90,000.

Both new school sites are already owned by the district, Spinas said. By acquiring the adjacent land to the Stambaugh St. school site eventually the school could be enlarged to 11 classrooms with auditorium, lunchroom and other auxiliary rooms. With the growth in population, this school could be used to house seventh and eighth grade pupils who by this time could not be accommodated at McKinley School.

Children east of the railroad and north of Broadway would attend the school at Alden and Warren Sts., Spinas said. The block site is adequate for not more than five classrooms and must therefore be limited to an enrollment of about 175 pupils.

Spinas reported today that many local organizations have endorsed the bond program. The groups include the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Foresters of America, Lions Club, Eagles, Sportsmen's Club, Native Sons of the Golden West and the six elementary school Parent-Teachers' Assns.

Polls at the six schools will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Feb. 26. Election returns can be obtained by calling the Tribune, RC 2000, after 8 p.m. on election night.

EPA Legion Begins Work on Building

The American Legion building designed as a community center for the East Palo Alto district will move from the planning into the construction stage this week following ground-breaking ceremonies Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Belle Haven Post 472 conducted the ceremonies, at which colors were advanced, a Legion ritual was read, and Comdr. James Sieney turned the first spadeful of earth on the triangular building site at University and Cooley Aves. District officials attended.

Planned as a $20,000 project, the center will probably represent an investment of almost double that in money and donated labor. It will be an L-shaped structure providing for two halls, one 40 by 80 feet and the other 40 by 30. Kitchen, vestibule, lavatory and locker facilities will be included.

Only the small hall will be completed at this time, but members of the building committee hope this will be ready for use in seven or eight weeks. It will have a 20-by-30-foot basement with equipment for central heating.

Money for this unit was secured by sale of the old Legion hall in North Palo Alto, community subscription of about $2500, and members' gifts totaling $1000.

Eighteen or 20 journeymen who belong to the post will do the work

A. V. Swift to Seek City Council Post

Arthur V. Swift, proprietor of the Standard Printing Co. Tuesday set the Redwood City political pot to boiling again when he obtained nomination papers from City Clerk Ralph S. Dodge to run for one of the three city council positions which will be empty at an Apr. 9 election.

A native of Redwood City, Swift was one of the original members of Redwood City Selective Service Board 106 and is now its chairman. He is a charter member of San Mateo County Typographical Union, Local 624, belongs to the NSGW, is a Mason.

He served as a member of the California Park Commission for two years prior to 1943.

So far, Swift and Carl (Ike) Britschgi are the only candidates who have obtained the nomination papers from Dodge. Dodge said that papers must be returned to him by noon Feb. 28.

Evans A. Fletcher, an incumbent as is Britschgi, has said that he will run although Atty. Harold P. Anderson, the other incumbent who will round out his term, has said that he will not.

Three Injured In Accidents

Three San Franciscans were treated at Mills Hospital over the weekend for injuries suffered in a five-car accident on El Camino Real at Tanager.

Henry Buccello suffered lacerations of the face and finger and abrasions of his knees, and his wife, May, suffered a bruised ankle. Lucy Vecchi, riding with the Buccellos, was treated at Mills for minor injuries.

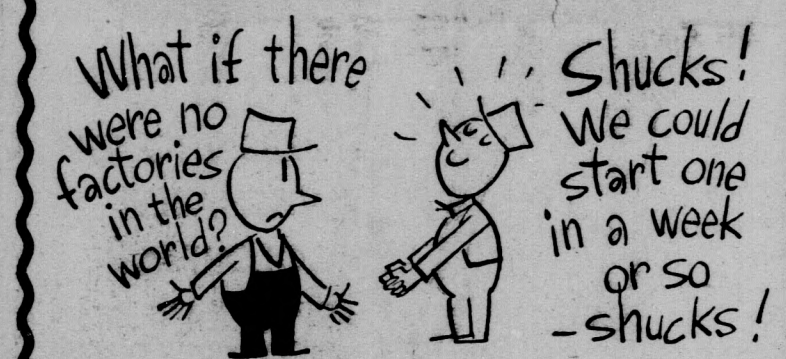

Robert W. De Mott, 23, of San Francisco, was arrested at 12:30 a.m. Monday by California Highway Patrolman Al Gross after a 90-mile-an-hour chase on Bayshore Hwy from Burlingame to Mills Field. He was charged with drunk driving and reckless driving. His bail was set at $125. He is to appear before Justice of the Peace John J. Fahy Jr. in South San Francisco Thursday at 10 a.m.

De Mott offered no resistance to arrest, Gross said. Meantime, a San Francisco man died over the weekend from injuries suffered Thursday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Manning W. Park of Redwood City. The victim was Ben Taylor, 60, who died as a result of a fractured skull. Park told police his vision had been blinded by oncoming headlights.

J-M Smokestack By Jim Asbestos

Let's Imagine — No Factories

Sometimes we may get a little mad at factories, and think we'd be better off without them.

But, just for fun, let's imagine that tomorrow morning we'd get up and there'd be no factories in the world.

Those of us who want jobs would have to scramble fast. Maybe 10,000 of us would meet in a vacant field on the edge of town and decide to start a factory to give us jobs.

What would we make? It has taken most factories from 10 to 50 years to figure that out—to perfect their products. Johns-Manville, for instance, now has several hundred men who do nothing but figure up J-M products for 1, 5, 10 years from now.

We'd need a building and we'd need machinery and raw materials—maybe $10,000's worth per man. This would call for 100 million dollars. We haven't got 'em. We'd have to get some backers—some thrifty folks, maybe 10,000 of them—to put up the 100 million. We would be willing to pay them a reasonable rent on their money (dividends). They'd be taking a risk; it's no more than fair that they should be rewarded for taking a chance on us.

We'd need smart managers to run our factory. We'd find other groups bidding for the managers. We'd have to pay these men good salaries.

We'd have to send salesmen out to sell our products. (Johns-Manville has several hundred such salesmen.)

Maybe in five years we'd be ready to roll. Starting a factory is no bed of roses, so—before we decide we'd be better off without the factory we work for, let's imagine 10,000 of us in a vacant field deciding to start one of our own tomorrow morning.

News of Commuters

BY JOE CARROUSE

Fifty commuters took a short course in railroading at their monthly dinner meeting last Thursday. Billed as "The Commuter's Night at the Commuters Club," it turned out to be a fast-moving evening, with Southern Pacific providing a staff of learned lecturers headed by "Professor" T. Louis Chess, D.C.G. (doctor of commuter gripes). For the commuters, "Professor" T. Walter Cutting, B.S., served as moderator.

Chess is the S.P.'s general passenger agent and gets most of the commuter complaints, which happily are few. "Doctor" Cutting is a super salesman of coffee who is credited with having invented the drip system. He was in rare form Thursday night. Chief speaker of the evening was James McDonough, district passenger agent, who told some "behind-the-scenes" problems of getting large numbers of commuters to and from work "on time."

Mr. McDonough quoted statistics which heretofore have been unavailable. (Ned Butler please note!) We say unavailable because, when we sought this information some time ago, the number of commuters didn't know, and the S.P. wouldn't tell. During the war, commuter travel on the Peninsula reached a peak of 12,000 a day, one way. This has now dropped to 9,375 passengers a day, one way. The present load from Redwood City is 1,360 into the city in the morning, and 1,316 back home at night.

We were intrigued by the disparity between the morning and evening loads. We asked Mr. McDonough why 44 more people went to work in the morning than came home at night, and if the same 44 commuters (presumably males) failed to come home every evening? He didn't know. He was too smart to name names if he did know. (That's one reason they call it the "friendly Southern Pacific.") But we figured out the same disparity ratio were projected into the future, it would be only three years and nine months until all of the commuters would be going into the city in the morning and nobody coming home at night.

The speaker gave population figures for Redwood City as follows: 1940—12,463; 1945—18,500. Assuming these figures are accurate, and that one person out of every four is a breadwinner, this would mean that approximately one-third of the population represent commuter families. This is the first time in six years since the Commuters Club was organized that we have been able to get any authoritative figures on this subject.

Two other Southern Pacific executives who were present and made brief talks were Hal W. Hall, assistant superintendent, and Wayne Mace, trainmaster, Coast division. We were impressed by the manner in which all four representatives of the railroad handled themselves. It isn't often you find technical men, such as trainmasters and operating superintendents, who can get on their feet with the poise and affability of trained public relations experts. In addition to being fine railroaders, the S.P.'s public relations program, their willingness to meet and discuss common problems with complaining or dissident groups, has made this one of the most efficient and highly esteemed railroad properties in the United States.

In closing the meeting President Brizez expressed the club's appreciation of the high level of service maintained on the Peninsula during the trying war years, and thanked the executives present for Southern Pacific's ever friendly co-operation in maintaining to commuter service. It was ironic that Jack Welch, S.P. employee who arranged the meeting, and chairman of the club's house committee, was unable to attend on account of illness.

Miles McDonald was taken ill and hospitalized while in Seattle last week. Mrs. McDonald was with him. They are now home and Miles is doing fine. George Raubinger took the count from Old Man Flu, was out two days, now okay. Mrs. Ray Cereghis, who underwent a serious operation at Palo Alto Hospital, is back home and doing nicely. Saw Elmer Ross and Peter Smith (in different groups) at the Northern California Management Conference at the Palace Hotel last week. Why those guys need further tutoring in business management, we don't know. Perhaps they were on the program as lecturers.

Incidentally, we interviewed

Boy Scout Books Shown at Library

During the past week, Redwood City Boy Scouts observed their national anniversary with special programs and celebrations including a display of books for Scouts at the Redwood City Public Library, Librarian Wilhelmina Harper announced today.

Books of special interest to Scouts include: "Thoroughbreds" by C. W. Anderson; "Indian Paint" by Glenn Balch; "All Hands Stand By" by R. H. Barbour; "Boy Heroes of Today" by D. C. Beard; "Stories of Daring and Danger" from the Boy Scout Year Book; "Insect Life: A Manual for Scouts" by J. C. Bradley; "Camp Hero" by B. J. Chute; "Uncle Dan" by Cyril Clemens; "First Aid for Boys" by N. B. Cole; "Lord Baden-Powell of the Boy Scouts" by H. M. Fast; "S. O. S. Radio Patrol" by William Heyliger; "Wilderness Champion" by J. W. Lippincott; "The Last of the Sea Otters" by Harold McCracken; "Snow Treasure" by Marie McGraw; "Boy Scouts Book of Indoor Hobby Trails" and "Boy Scouts Book of Outdoor Hobby Trails" by F. K. Mathews; "Lonnie's Landing" by C. M. Simon; "Boy Scouts to the Rescue" by L. K. Smith and "Top Kick: U. S. Army Horse" by H. O. Watson.

Elmer in the revolving door on our way out, on the political situation in Redwood City. It is doubtful if he will be back for some time. He seems to have his mind on bigger things. He mentioned the trouble Warren is having with the assembly, and the Truman-licks feud. Think of the opportunities for good men in the next state and national elections.

Fathers of Cubs, don't forget the big fathers-and-sons dinner meeting of Pack 16, Thursday, Feb. 28, at the Methodist Church. Norm Meyer is back in town after a long tour of duty with the Red Cross. Bert Conroy was given recognition at last Thursday's meeting as a "charter" Commuter Club member who has never missed a meeting. . . . And Bert has done more than attend meetings, he has been one of the club's most ardent workers in all worthy causes. . . . Chas. Mish is another "old faithful" who now announces himself as retired. . . . And while we're passing the accolades, how about one for Ed DeBow for his outstanding job as secretary? Ditto Al Armitage as treasurer.

We caught first-grader Jimmy (age 7) addressing two valentines. Asked whom they were for, he colored slightly, chewed his pencil and twisted himself into the shape of a pretzel. "They're for the Werner twins, Betsy and Suzanne," he said. We then asked him why

Exchange Club Backs Bond Issue

The Redwood City Exchange Club Tuesday night gave unanimous endorsement to the $600,000 elementary school bond issue before the voters next Tuesday.

The action was taken after School Supt. Andrew Spinas explained that the school system needs $600,000 immediately to take care of increasing enrollment, and has a 10-year building program to cost another $1,000,000, financing of which is to be handled later.

How to Use Meat to Make Breakfasts Hearty

Cold days call for hearty breakfasts, and one of the best ways I've found to make a breakfast substantial is to include some meat in the menu. Here are some favorite winter breakfasts that will also make a special hit for Sunday brunch.

COLD MORNING SPECIAL

Tomato Juice with Lemon Wedge
Hot Apple Pancakes Rolled Around Sausage Links

Warm Syrup Coffee or Cocoa

APPLE PANCAKES—To 2 cups of prepared pancake flour, add 2 eggs and 1 1/2 cups milk beaten together. Blend well. Stir in 1 cup finely chopped apples and 2 tablespoons melted shortening. Drop by tablespoons onto greased griddle or frying pan. Bake until bubbles break; turn and bake until golden brown. Wrap each pancake around a well-cooked sausage link. Serve hot with warmed syrup. Serves 6.

WAKE UP TO THIS!

Spiced Applesauce with Raisins
Sautéed Kidneys with Mashed Potato Cakes
Buttered Toast
Coffee or Milk

SAUTEED KIDNEYS—Skin, split in half lengthwise, and remove white tubes and tissues from 6 to 12 veal or lamb kidneys. Wash thoroughly. Cut into thin slices and cover with flour, salt and pepper. Sauté in drippings about 3 minutes or until browned. Add 1 cup hot water and cook about 5 minutes, or until thickened, stirring constantly. Serve hot. Serves 6.

START THE DAY RIGHT!

Baked Winter Pears
Broiled Lamb Chops and Hashed Brown Potatoes
Toasted English Muffin
Coffee or Milk

HASHED BROWN POTATOES—Melt 3 tablespoons shortening in a heavy frying pan; add 3 cups chopped or finely cut cooked potatoes, heaping them toward the center and away from the edges of the pan; season to taste. Cover with a lid or heavy plate; press down so that cover is right on top of the potatoes. Place a box of salt or rock on top to give pressure. Cook slowly and without turning for 15 to 20 minutes, or until crusty brown. Turn out onto a warm plate. Cut into 4 or 6 pie-shaped wedges to serve.

HELP HURRY PEACETIME GOODS!

The end of the war did not stop the need for turning in waste fats. Many important products—nylons, tires, soaps and elastic, to name but a few—require the use of scarce industrial fats and oils in their manufacture. Safeway meat sections continue to pay four cents per pound for the waste fats you bring in.

Prices in this Ad are effective Wed., Thurs. and Sat., Feb. 20-21-22, in San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Hayward, Richmond and other cities and towns in San Mateo, Alameda, and Contra Costa Counties, unless changes are required as a result of new OPA regulations.

It's a pleasure to shop at Safeway
